

F. D. CHALLENGES THE COURT

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. WASHBURN

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, thundering against the idea that the American constitution is a fixed body of law that can't be modified in keeping with the spirit of the times by friendly judges, gave the Liberty Leaguers something to think about as they huddled around their radios at 1 o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon. If the Liberty Leaguers heard the same thing I did, then they heard speaking a president just re-elected by the greatest majority in modern history, and applauded by a record majority in congress, also elected by the people. America has spoken—and the action before the supreme court today resolves itself to this: Either to amend previous interpretations of the constitution in order to work with the present administration, or, if this is technically impossible, then to state plainly what kind of a constitutional amendment must be submitted to the states.

Blizzards Sweep West; Cold Wave Heading for State

Roads Blocked in California, Arizona, Utah—250 Are Marooned

RAIN IN ARKANSAS

Cold Wave to Strike Thursday—Hard Freeze in North Counties

CHICAGO—(AP)—Winter concentrated its severest blasts in the Far West Wednesday after giving the Middle West a taste of sub-zero weather, the coldest of the season.

Blizzards and rain swept the Pacific Coast, Arizona, and Utah, blocking roads, marooning 250 persons in eight camps, and killing at least one.

Continued cold is predicted for the storm-ridden area.

Cold Wave Here

Rain and a cold wave are predicted for the Hope area Thursday, following a drizzling rain Tuesday and downpours on Wednesday.

Approximately one-half inch of rain had fallen up to 2 p. m. Wednesday, it was reported by the Fruit & Truck Branch Experiment station.

Freefall for January showed: Jan. 1—1.21 inches, Jan. 4—.02 inches, Jan. 5—.05 inches, Jan. 6—.49 inches.

The lowest temperature for January was recorded the night of the 3rd when the mercury dropped to 23½ degrees.

Debt Committee to Meet Jan. 15

Regular Session Is Week From Friday in Local RA Office

E. M. Osborn, chairman of the Hempstead County Farm Debt Adjustment committee, announced Wednesday that a regular meeting of the committee will be held at the Resettlement office in Hope at 10 a. m. Friday, January 15.

The committee functions as a conciliatory body to assist worthy, debt-burdened farmers in working out new agreements with their creditors to avoid foreclosure or bankruptcy. There is no charge for its services.

By applying sound and impartial business reasoning, the committee is often successful in solving difficult farm debt problems, thus eliminating the expense and delay of liquidation and improving the status of both debtor and creditor.

The committee is composed of citizens appointed by the governor and serves without pay except for "out of pocket" expenses. The work is coordinated by the Farm Debt Adjustment Unit of the Resettlement Administration.

Further information concerning the services of the committee may be secured by contacting the chairman, the extension agent or the RA rehabilitation supervisor.

48-Foot Wind Indicator BELLEVILLE, Ill.—(AP)—A 48-foot wind indicator visible for more than five miles has been installed to replace the old fashioned "wind sock" at Scott field, army airport near here.

The indicator resembles a half pyramid which has been laid on its side. It will enable pilots approaching Scott field to determine wind direction without the necessity of flying over the field.

The silver fox is the principal contributor to the value of Canadian fur production. In the latest fur trade year, these animals provide 34 per cent of the total number of furs taken.

Salary Increase for City Plant's Head Is Rejected

Aldermen Defeat $225 Salary for Arch Moore by Vote of 4 to 3

MULE BARN IS HIT

Council Committee Makes Preliminary Report on S. Walnut Street

In a four-to-three decision, the city council Tuesday night voted to let the salary of Arch Moore, superintendent of Hope municipal water and light plant, remain at $200 per month.

The water and light committee, with Alderman Carter Johnson as chairman, had recommended that Mr. Moore's salary be increased to $225 per month, the same sum that was being paid to the late George Sundefur at the time of his death.

Alderman Johnson told the council that the committee had met with Mayor Albert Graves and discussed the increase in salary, which was recommended by the committee and the mayor, Mr. Johnson said.

He pointed out that receipts of the municipal plant had materially increased during the management of Mr. Moore the past 18 months.

How Aldermen Voted

Voting against the proposed increase in salary were: Aldermen Cassidy, Hamilton, Keith and Taylor.

Voting for the increase were: Aldermen C. Johnson, Henry and Young.

Alderman Roy Johnson, confined to his bed because of illness, was absent.

The council unanimously voted a donation of $50 to be used in advertising Hempstead county watermelons at the inaugural ceremonies of Governor-Elect Carl E. Bailey at Little Rock.

Terrill Cornelius appeared before the council and asked for the donation.

A special committee appointed several days ago by Mayor Graves to investigate alleged unsanitary condition of mule barns on South Walnut street, reported to the council Tuesday night that much improvement had been made but reserved its final report until the next meeting of the council.

Attacked by Citizens

A petition bearing 49 signatures was recently filed with the council attacking the condition of the mule barns. The committee said that owners of the barns had promised to keep the premises in a satisfactory manner.

The petition bore signatures of practically every resident of South Walnut street.

Fire Chief J. K. Sale appeared before the council and asked the group its opinion toward organization of a junior police department for Hope, composed of robust members of the Hope Boy Scouts.

The fire chief pointed out that this organization's duties would be to patrol streets with its main objective to protect school children in crossing streets.

The matter was referred to a traffic committee appointed by Mayor Graves. The committee is composed of Aldermen Young Henry and Taylor. They were asked to consult with Mr. Sale and to report at the next meeting of the council.

City Attorney W. S. Atkins reviewed the session of the Municipal League meeting held last month in Little Rock. He told of its objectives, and of the plan for the league to have a voice in the issuing of state liquor license.

The council meeting was concluded with the filing of routine reports.

Call for Better Meat Inspection

Uniform Regulation Is Advocated by Veterinary Association

LITTLE ROCK—Uniformity in municipal meat inspection laws as a public health measure was urged by members of the Arkansas Veterinary Medical Association attending the annual convention here Tuesday.

In a discussion following an address by Dr. T. M. Dick of Little Rock, city veterinarian, on "Necessity of State Supervision for Meat Inspection," delegates urged that the legislature pass a regulation law. It was proposed that an inspector be employed by the state to supervise the work. He would visit municipalities where inspection laws are in effect to better acquaint the city inspector with requirements of the state law.

Conflicting requirements of meat inspection laws of cities make it difficult for shippers, C. D. Stubbs, state veterinarian, said. Uniformity in inspection laws would tend to place better meats on the market, he said.

State supervision of livestock auction sales was urged by Dr. J. D. Morton of Pine Bluff, who said strict supervision would aid in preventing spread of disease. Discussions by Dr. J. C. Young of Marianna and Dr. Walter Martin of Jonesboro followed Dr. Morton's address.

Broadway Packs 'Em in, Far As Eye Can See

The mood of the biggest crowd ever assembled in the public square of any American city gave emphasis to forecasts that 1937 would be the gayest and happiest within memory. For the crowd in this remarkable New Year's Eve scene at Times Square, New York, broke all records for size, cheerfulness and spending—and was pointed out by merchants as a sign the depression was over. The view is north along Broadway from 45th street, but the crowd extended south for nearly five blocks more and overflowed into converging Seventh Avenue.

Spain in Protest on Italy, Germany

Ask League Investigation of German Seizure, Italian Troops

GENEVA, Switzerland.—(AP)—The Spanish Valencia government lodged a double protest with the League of Nations Wednesday against the violation of her sovereignty by Italy and Germany.

Valencia asked for League action on the German fleet's seizure of Spanish merchant ships and the sending of Italian volunteers to aid the Spanish insurgent attack.

Officials set League machinery in motion to act on the protest.

French Border Patrol

PARIS, France.—(AP)—France was reported Wednesday to be considering the dispatch of troops to the Pyrenees mountains to guard the undefended Spanish frontier against the implied threat of massed German volunteers in Spain.

Inaugural 'Special' on 12th, Not 11th

Hempstead Delegation to Attend Capital City Party Tuesday

The special Missouri Pacific passenger train carrying Hempstead county supporters of Governor-Elect Carl E. Bailey to Little Rock for inaugural ceremonies will depart from Hope Tuesday, January 12, instead of January 11 as erroneously reported by The Star Tuesday.

The Hempstead county committee on arrangements, through error, first reported that the inaugural of Mr. Bailey and the parade would be held on January 11. It will be January 12 instead.

Hempstead county will enter a watermelon float in the parade at Little Rock.

Two Visit Office of Kidnap Probers

But Mission of South Washington Men Remains a Mystery

TACOMA, Wash.—(AP)—A visit by two southwest Washington men to the kidnap investigation headquarters Wednesday revived speculation that the abductors of Charles Matson, 10, may be hiding the boy near Shelton.

Neither of the men would discuss the reason for their visit.

It has been estimated that 1936 production of book paper will approximate 1,370,000 tons in the United States.

Turned Brown by Brown Turner

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Things are coming to a pretty pass in this country when even a Democrat can't get some sort of government job without having to pass a civil service examination. The Civil Service Commission now asks Congress to make everybody pass a test or face the voters if they get on the public payroll, and if the examinations are any harder than filling out applications to take them it will be easier to work for a living after all. That makes it hard on Congressmen, too, who may have to think up some new tricks if they expect to serve more than one term. Airplane travel is so popular these days you have to stand in line to get your tickets, so it looks like they'll soon have so much business they can cut out free lunches.

One Liquor Store to Town, Is Better

O'Neal Outlines What He Thinks New Control Law Should Be

Editor The Star: I'll take it all back. There is a preacher, apparently, who has proposed a liquor control law, Rev. Luc Nichols of Booneville. You recall I doubted if such a preacher lives in Arkansas. And his law is stated to be for the purpose of discouraging the use of liquor.

The more I study the evils of liquor the more I am puzzled why people use it at all. No man ever takes even one drink of liquor except he expects to get drunk to that extent. One drink may not place a man in the gutter but it certainly does make him one-drunk drunk.

Liquor is one thing that no one can say a saving word for; it is not a food and it is not a medicine. It can only make people drunk, and when drunk they make very decided fools of themselves.

Because so many people had never seen or tasted beer three years ago when it was legalized everybody with a dime had to see how it tasted and acted and it was only a short time before 32 beer as such could not be had on the market; why it is simply too weak to give one an hilarious feeling in 15 minutes. But now it's different: 6 per cent and more—and one can not go in a cafe without finding many people drinking beer, and of the two evils, beer or strong drink, I prefer the strong drink every time, judging from general appearances.

The legislature will meet again shortly, and I am wondering how many of our people have been courageous enough to name liquor to our representatives and senator. Very few, I venture. Well, if we won't tell 'em, and they go on their own, what right have we got to bowl them out later if they vote wet?

I am in favor of repealing the Thoma

Uprising Follows Hospital Reduction

Retrenchment Protested—Meanwhile, Mysterious Death Occurs

BENTON, Ark.—(AP)—Representative Kenneth Coffelt said Wednesday that unless the budget committee retracts its action in reducing the state hospital appropriation he would vigorously oppose its recommendation when he reaches the floor of the house.

"It appears that the state schools of higher education and other particular interests are endeavoring to take charge of the state's finances," Coffelt charged.

Board Member Quits

LITTLE ROCK.—After signing a letter, with other members of the State Hospital Board, protesting against proposed drastic reductions in the appropriation for maintenance of the hospital, F. H. Fulkerson, Pulaski county planter, tendered his resignation to Governor Futrell Tuesday. The resignation will become effective when the governor returns from office next week.

J. O. E. Beck of Hughes, planter and member of several state honorary boards and commissions, was said to have resigned from the Hospital Board, but attaches at the governors office said they had not received the resignation.

Death at Hospital

LITTLE ROCK.—C. H. McCrary, 32, and Floyd Hinkson, 37, attendants employed at the State hospital, were arrested Tuesday on warrants charging them with having murdered M. L. Edmondson, 56, of Boone county, who died Sunday. Officers charged that the guards "beat and stamped" Edmondson.

In their cell at the Pulaski county jail neither would make a statement. McCrary was very bitter and said there was no truth in the charges. Bonds were fixed at $2,500 each.

Arrests came after Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Henry E. Spitzberg, Dr. Howard A. Dishongh, coroner and other officers had questioned the pair at the hospital. Dr. Dishongh said that an autopsy on Edmondson's body had revealed "terrible internal injuries more than sufficient to have caused death."

The investigation was started at the request of Dr. A. C. Kolb, superintendent of the hospital.

"I deeply regret the affair," said Dr. Kolb. "When word was brought to me Sunday night that there were suspicious circumstances connected with the death I lost no time in gathering information and calling Mr. Spitzberg and Dr. Dishongh."

Federal Agencies Watching Strike

General Motors Executive to Meet With Labor Representatives

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Secretary Roper said Wednesday that the administration is "greatly concerned" over the labor situation in the General Motors automobile plants, but added that he expected a settlement would be reached.

He said the Department of Commerce would not step into the labor controversy directly but would tender its services to the Department of Labor.

To "Talk It Over"

DETROIT, Mich.—(AP)—Federal agencies took an active hand Tuesday in seeking negotiations to conciliate labor-management differences in automotive plants of the General Motors Corporation, where nearly 50,000 workers are idle.

James F. Dewey, Labor Department conciliator, reported to Secretary Perkins Tuesday night that William Knudsen, General Motors vice president, had agreed to meet a committee from the United Automobile Workers, along with federal conciliators. Dewey arrived Tuesday.

Miss Perkins told newspapermen this development made her more hopeful of an early settlement.

"I always think it is hopeful when people talk to each other," she said. "I am very glad Mr. Knudsen has decided to do this."

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, said a "general stoppage of General Motors is underway," adding a pledge of co-operation to "all government agencies seeking to conciliate."

Martin said the union is ready "to meet General Motors at any time to deal collectively."

Referring to the statement of Alfred P. Sloan Jr., General Motors president, that no union or labor dictators will dominate the plants' of the corporation, Martin said:

"We have never asked the right to run General Motors' business or its plants. But we do ask for our rights as workers through our own organization to run our end of collective bargaining. Thus far General Motors has handled both ends of collective bargaining because of its control of the Works' Councils."

By the Associated Press

The spread of United Automobile Workers' strikes to General Motors Corporation plants at Janesville, Wis., Tuesday night raised to 4,500 the number of corporation employees idle.

Enlightened View, Not Amendment, Is Need, He Declares

Democracy Must Be Preserved, Keynote of Message to Congress

3 VITAL PROBLEMS

Roosevelt Views Them as: Housing, Tenant Aid, Unemployment

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt summoned the courts Wednesday to do their part "in making democracy successful" within the framework of the constitution at a time when "militarism has leaped forward" abroad.

Addressing the joint session of the senate and house in the spacious house chamber, the president said:

"The vital need is not alteration of our fundamental law but an increasingly enlightened view with reference to it. We do not ask the courts to call non-existent powers into being but we have the right to expect that conceded powers or those legitimately implied shall be made an effective instrument for the common good."

"The progress of our democracy must not be imperiled by the denial of the essential powers of free government."

He asserted that the broad objectives of the NRA were sound, adding:

"The statute of the NRA has been outlawed, but its problems have not. They are still with us."

The Important Problems

Among the far-reaching problems needing solution, the president included:

1. The housing menace.

2. Aid for tenant farmers to become self-supporting.

3. Unemployment.

The president said immediate action is needed to extend the neutrality law to cover the civil state in Spain, to extend expiring statutes, such as the monetary powers, and the RFC; and to make deficiency appropriations for relief purposes.

Ode Taylor Still Reported Missing

Report of His Being Found in Texarkana Is Quickly Denied

The whereabouts of Ode Taylor, 53-year-old farmer, who was reported to have disappeared from a downtown street in Hope Saturday, remained a mystery Wednesday, sheriff's officers said.

A rumor that Taylor had been arrested at Texarkana proved false when sheriff's officers telephoned Texarkana authorities and obtained a description of a man arrested there.

Deputy Sheriff Reginald Bearden said he was positive that the man was not Taylor.

Officers in southwest Arkansas have been notified to be on the lookout for Taylor. When last seen he was wearing overalls and a felt hat. He is slightly gray and the forefinger on his right hand is missing.

Cost of Congress About 21 Million

531 Senators and Representatives Are Paid $10,000 Each

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The operation of congress will cost the taxpayers about $21,000,000 during the fiscal year ending next July.

Besides the salaries of the 531 senators and representatives—who draw $10,000 each—congress appropriated $4,650,000 to run the Government Printing Office and $110,689 for salaries of the capital police force.

Another $2,500,000 went toward air-conditioning the capital and the three congressional office buildings.

Salaries of clerks and maintenance of the grounds and buildings account for a large percentage of the balance.

Constant "Lump in Throat" May Be Due to Long or Swollen Uvula

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

An interesting little organ in the throat which is the subject of a good deal of misunderstanding is the small piece of tissue known as the uvula, which hangs down in the center of the palate.

Invasion by germs, or irritation from heat, caustic substances, or mechanical injury may cause inflammation, swelling, irritation, and pain in the uvula, just as in tissue elsewhere in the body. The uvula is involved frequently in chronic infection and inflammation of the tonsils and throat. Swelling in the tissues around the uvula may interfere with the blood coming to it, causing it to become congested and enlarged.

A person occasionally is born with a uvula that is too long, but this is exceedingly rare. When the uvula is too long, or when it becomes swollen or inflamed, there is a feeling like a lump in the throat. To get rid of the obstruction by cleaning the throat naturally is impossible, because the uvula is part of the tissues.

There are cases in which swelling after operation or for some other reason becomes so severe that the blood supply to this piece of tissue is cut off entirely, in which case it will become black and finally slough off.

Much more often in the past than now the uvula was considered to be the cause of chronic irritation in the throat, and it was removed surgically. Today the operation is resorted to only in cases in which the uvula is so long that it hangs into the throat or lies constantly upon the tongue. A normal uvula is less than one-half inch long and never reaches the tongue if the latter is moderately depressed.

There actually are cases in which the uvula has been more than an inch and a half long. In such cases it can cause a good deal of irritation and disturbance, and requires removal.

There also are cases in which the uvula fails to become one piece of tissue in the process of birth and the person seems to have a double uvula, or two of them.

This type of growth is not troublesome, except for the annoyance it brings the possessor, who feels that it may be wrong, and that something should be done about it.

If he wants to have it removed, there are many competent specialists in diseases of the throat who can aid him.

Your Children

Parental Bickering Causes Much of Children's Woes

"I am trying to train Billy out of his inferiority complex," says Mrs. Smith to the lady who has just lectured. "I read all the books I can get on the subject. And my daughter has a habit of sulking. So I am concentrating on her also."

The speaker congratulates her and Mrs. Smith goes home. She scans the notes she has made on the talk and decides that Billy needs more praise than he is getting and Betty needs to be kept busier.

Billy comes in from school and his mother greets him brightly. "Well, dear, did you get a better mark in spelling?" Billy hadn't, but she tells him that some people just can't spell very well anyway. To Betty she remarks that if she wants very much to start dancing lessons, she may.

Father Belittled

But as she changes her shoes to get supper, mother sees a run in her stocking. "My last pair," she cries. "I am always down to my last pair, and Johnson's had a sale today, too. I couldn't go in because I had only one pair. My, I do wish your father would ask for a raise. He just seems to think we can get along on nothing."

"Daddy has some money," Billy says. "He'll give you some."

"You don't know your father. He is forever harping about things he has to pay." But this was uttered with a mysterious air that left suspicion.

"Daddy didn't bring up enough wood for the living room fire, Billy. You go down and get some," she complains later. "My, I wish that man could keep his wits about him. No wonder he can't get anywhere in the office. Billy, I want you to learn to

HOLLYWOOD

By Paul Harrison

They Don't Want to Be Seen With Stars! Who? Bodyguards!

HOLLYWOOD—The people who get around most in the company of movie stars are large, silent gents who try to remain inconspicuous, and whose faces seldom get into the papers. Their faces are not what you would call decorative, anyway. They have bulging biceps and ominously bulging hip pockets. They're bodyguards.

Not all the stars have bodyguards regularly on their payrolls, although practically all chauffeurs also serve as protectors and are armed against unexpected trouble. Ginger Rogers was the latest to get a threatening letter, so she hired a private detective to accompany her until the sender of the note was arrested.

Children of movie celebrities are less carefully protected than you'd imagine. Only Marlene Dietrich's Maria and the Harold Lloyd youngsters have bodyguards of their own. But children

His wife, Violet, is Sherry's maid. Mae West is surrounded by the most impressive protection in Hollywood. Three men are with her wherever she goes, and keep watch outside her apartment when she is at home. Their presence seems to lend collaboration to the tale that a gangster mob is endangering her. Two years ago, after being robbed of some diamonds, she defied threats of vengeance and testified against two mugs who were apprehended. A third man in the robbery never was caught.

Pugs Cured Mae

Two of her shadows are former prizefighters. One, Speedy Dado, is a Filipino, who also drives her car. The other, John Arno, is a heavyweight whose poutage is increased by a cannon carried on each hip. The third guard, George Hoff, is assigned from the local sheriff's office.

So far these men never have had to use their fists or guns to protect Miss West. But they're not complaining; they like her company.

A Punman

Al Jolson's bodyguard-chauffeur is short, stocky Jim Donnelly. He pulls puns instead of guns. Once he was a test driver for an automobile factory, and in the 15 years of his service with Jolson has driven him across the continent 14 times. When they're not traveling, Donnelly lives at the Jolson estate and guards Ruby Keeler and the Jolson's 2-year-old adopted son.

He could retire if he wanted to, but prefers to remain in the mammy-singer's service. Donnelly has become well-to-do, if not rich, by following Jolson's stock market tips.

Pals With "Killer"

Maek Grey, bodyguard and all-around stooge for George Raft, doesn't conform to the accepted pattern of protectors. He's small and dapper, like his boss. They've been friends since they were kids together in Brooklyn, and Grey was Raft's manager when the latter tried professional boxing.

Around the screen colony Grey is known as "The Killer." The nickname is more than faintly derisive. Grey ever killed anybody. In fact, he almost got himself killed in a fight that started at the Brown Derby.

He and Raft were dining quietly when a pugacious drunk tried to muss the actor's sleek hair, and started throwing punches.

Grey indeed the trouble-maker outside and the bottle was resumed in an adjoining parking lot. "The Killer" took an awful beating for a few minutes. Raft finally had to step in and knock the other fellow out.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

Psychiatry Is Not Confined to Insane.

About all the ordinary mortal knows about psychiatry is that it is a now-you-see-it-now-you-don't science, so involved that any prominent murder case is apt to bring into court two prominent psychiatrists going in diametrically opposite directions from a given set of facts.

There is more to psychiatry, however, than dealing with outright nuts and homicidal maniacs. There is a wide and hazy borderland full of people who have this or that mental quirk that needs attention and doesn't get it; what the layman needs is a means of recognizing that borderland when he strays into it, so that he can have someone help him out of it.

This need is met very neatly in "So You're Going to a Psychiatrist," by Elizabeth I. Adamson (Crowell; $2.50).

Dr. Adamson, in plain and simple language, tells how emotional conflicts and maladjustments arise and what they are apt to do to the people who suffer from them.

Her chief service, it seems to me, lies in her exposition of the way we can suffer from such things without knowing that anything in particular is wrong with us.

Her book also is useful in that it emphasizes that one does not need to fear going to a psychiatrist—that such a visit does not mean that one is on the borderland of insanity, or afflicted with some shameful mental ailment that must be screened from the neighbors.

Modern life puts us all under pressure. Psychiatry is able to correct many of the bad effects of that pressure.

Dr. Adamson's book is a welcome exposition of the part this science can play to promote human happiness.

As Woman Mayor Defied Ouster

Although armed guards remained on duty, threats of bloodshed and civil war appeared likely to give way to a court battle in the struggle for control of the Daytona Beach, Fla., city government. Mayor Irene Armstrong, upper right, remained entrenched in city hall, where she had been in power since her husband resigned. Gov. Dave Sholtz, upper left, whose term was to expire Jan. 5, fought to oust Mrs. Armstrong under special 1933 legislation. Associated Press Correspondent
NEW YORK—(AP)—New Year prints—modern as 1937—are out in new designs inspired by all the "props" of modern life from cinemas to subways.

They are advance news in spring fashions, are stamped on a wide variety of "luscious" silks and are ready to wear under midseason coats to brighten wardrobes that have begun to sag under the winter strain. They come in vivid colors on dark backgrounds.

Some of the smartest, designed by Celine Parrelli, are colorful geometric patterns of the Paris subway, the bridges which cross the Seine in the French capital or lengths of film covered with the signatures of motion picture stars.

The Paris Exposition of 1937 inspires another pattern which is splashed with designs of the Eiffel Tower and exposition buildings, while a second is patterned with colorful airplanes and a third with the black and white bow ties the modern Beau Brummel wears at night. Designs of mushrooms, vegetables and strawberries make other bright prints for advance spring wear.

Gay Patterns and Hues

The new silk prints generally show gay patterns and vivid colors. They are splashed with a number of hues and are printed on a wide variety of weaves, such as twills, toiles, mouselines, chiffons, taffets, and crepes.

Huge floral patterns appear in the prints for evening wear, which generally favor black or white grounds. The engraving technique also makes itself felt in evening silks which come with colored backgrounds traced with delicate pen-line patterns.

Petal Plaids

Prints for day wear show geometric floral patterns such as leaf or petal plaids and checks. Prints suggesting tweeds or plaids and others patterned with Paisley and Cashmere shawl designs are likewise smart. The coronation influence is reflected in crown, scroll and feather patterns, while the vogue for color manifests itself again in silks splashed with ballet dancers, athletes and Chinese figures.

Solid color silks are also important in advance spring showings.

'Jungle Princess' Saenger Feature

Dorothy Lamour Introduced as the Screen's Newest Star

A romance in the heart of the mazy jungle between a white man lost in the wilderness and a girl who had never seen a white man before is the story of action-packed "The Jungle Princess," showing Thursday and Friday at the Saenger.

Dorothy Lamour, whose golden voice has captivated the nation on the radio, makes her film debut in this picture as the child of the jungle whose only companion is a full-grown man-eating tiger and a giant chimpanzee. Ray Milland plays the part of the explorer in the Malay jungle who is saved by the girl and then falls in love with her. Thrills in large measure are furnished in "The Jungle Princess" by a stampeding elephant herd, the battle between a man and a tiger, the fight to the death between a tiger and a leopard and the destruction of a Malay village by a herd of baboons. Miss Lamour sings a Malay cradle song during the course of the picture.

The supporting cast includes Molly Lamont, Akim Tamiroff, Mala, Lynne Overman, Hugh Buckler and Robert Law.

Shoe Business Is Up 25% for Hope

1936 Best in His Five-Year Store History, Says Henry Hitt

Retail shoe sales during 1936 cleared the track for the biggest production year in the history of the shoe business, according to Henry Hitt, proprietor of Hitt's Brownbilt Shoe Store in Hope. His own business, said Mr. Hitt, ran approximately 25 per cent ahead of 1935 and was the best it had been since opening almost five years ago.

Government records show that more shoes were manufactured in this country during the year just closed than in any year since records have been kept, Mr. Hitt stated.

"Shoe values have been at their peak, for one thing," he said, "while improved conditions throughout the country and especially in Hope have accounted for the sensational improvement. Prices have been lower than in the boom years of the last decade, although many persons in the trade anticipate a price increase shortly."

American manufacturers today are making better shoes than they have ever made, according to Mr. Hitt. There is a tendency on the part of the manufacturer toward closer co-operation with the consumer and the individual dealer, he added, pointing out that the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis supplies his entire line of shoes and helps in various details toward the improvement of service to customers.

"This kind of aid from a manufacturer is a great help to retailers in continually improving their service to customers."

Emmet Girls' Team to Face Tough Schedule

Games With State Champs Scheduled

Clash With Magnet Cove, Then Take on Union High of El Dorado

The Emmet High School senior girls basketball team, riding high, wide and handsome on a long string of victories, will step into the state's strongest competition during the balance of January.

Captain J. B. Little announced Wednesday that he had scheduled games with Union High School of El Dorado, state champions for the past two years.

Captain Little also announced games with Magnet Cove, so far unbeaten this season.

The Emmet team has scored approximately 45 points per game and is unbeaten to date. The school has its best team in history.

The Emmet cagers will meet Magnet Cove at Emmet this Friday night and indications point to a record crowd.

Captain Little said. The team attracts spectators from miles around.

Latest victims of the Emmet sextet was Guernsey, which went down to a 43 to 11 defeat at Emmet last Saturday night. The Emmet senior boys defeated Guernsey, 22 to 15, and the junior boys won a third game, 19 to 10.

Seven games on the Emmet senior girls' schedule for January follows: Jan. 8—Magnet Cove at Emmet. Jan. 9—Okolona there. Jan. 12—Malvern Central at Emmet. Jan. 16—Union High at El Dorado. Jan. 22—Hot Springs at Emmet (tentative). Jan. 23—Magnet Cove there. Jan. 30—Union High of El Dorado at Emmet.

Doyle

Willie and Leroy Chambers of Hot Springs are spending the holidays with their mother, Mrs. Harper and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furner and children of Doyle spent a few days with their folks at Arkadelphia, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and family.

David Balch returned to the camp Saturday after spending several days with his mother, Mrs. S. J. Balch and family.

Cecil O'Brian left Sunday for his camp after spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim O'Brian and family.

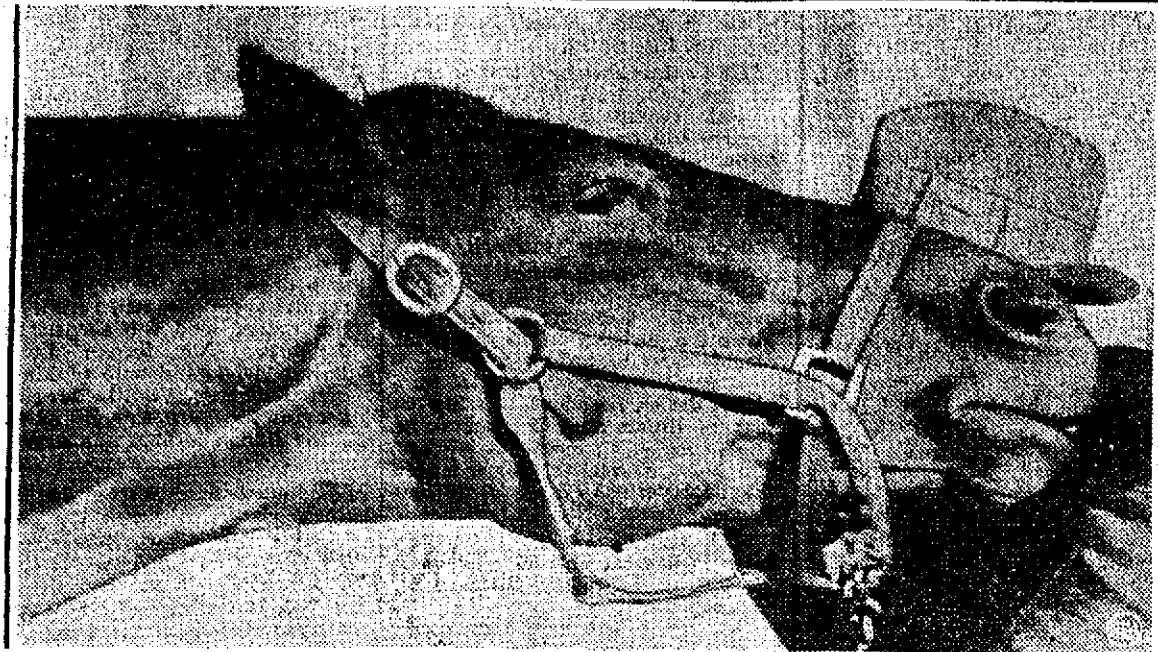

Cecil Watson returned to the camp after spending several days with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Berlie Watson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Balch and daughter Hollis, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Balch and daughter Lavern, Mr. and Mrs. Clide Hutson and children, and Miss David Skinner spent Christmas day with Mrs. S. J. Balch and family.

The church offered the most opposition to the printing art when it began to spread. Dignitaries were alarmed at the freedom of opinion exercised by printers, and state governments enacted measures of repression in the 18th century.

Cage Prospects at Henderson Bright

Plowboy Cagers Win 60 Straight Games --The Suspense Is Something Awful

Southwest Texas Junior College Team Is Led by Raymond Adams, 6-foot-7 Center—Team Begins Twenty-Game Schedule

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT

STEPHENVILLE, Texas.—(AP)—Sixty straight basketball victories behind them, the John Tarleton college Plowboys tell you, without flinching, that all they need is time to make it 80 in a row.

Three years without defeat in tough junior college competition, Coach W. J. Wisdom's team is the talk of the Southwest.

But, like Minnesota's amazing football record, the Plowboy cage wizardry is beginning to get on everybody's nerves.

"It is a lot harder for the Plowboys to turn in their best games with the pressure they must face—the constant fear that this game or the next will mean the breaking of the long winning streak that every member of the team guards as religiously as he would his great-grandfather's coat of arms," says Wisdom. "Then there are times when the team is just 'off,' as was the case when the boys last year beat Decatur Baptist, a team that was about half as strong as some of the others they had defeated, by a single point."

On hand for the current 20-game schedule are a collection of towering goal terrors topped by Raymond Adams, 6-foot-7 center.

The college publicity department apologizes for the Plowboys by explaining that "despite the fact that the Plowboys have been so successful during the past three years, there was never a time during the three years that Coach Wisdom had more than ten lettermen from which to pick his team. This year there are only five veterans back.

Basketball gets the "emphasis" in this section. Football also is played.

Ghosts Return to This Strange House

Winchester's Widow Kept Building It 36 Years to Keep Alive

By SAM JACKSON
AP Feature Service Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif.—(AP)—Having spent 33 years in the Winchester "ghost house," Custodian John R. Brown and his wife say they are experiencing phenomena they can't explain.

When they moved into the weird 100-room structure in 1923, the Browns scoffed at the idea the spirit of its owner, Mrs. Sarah Pardee Winchester, of the rifle-manufacturing family, would cause them any trouble. Nor were they afraid of the floating faces and detached hands which a parlor maid declared materialized around Mrs. Winchester.

Many mediums asked permission to hold seances, but the Browns turned them down and have been exhibiting the house merely as an architectural monstrosity.

Footsteps in the Dark

But now, after the 13th year—"There have been footsteps going through the house at night," says Brown. "I get up and search and I can't find anything. It's happened time and again."

"Something keeps unlatching the door. One day it happened three times—unlatched from the inside when I was the only person in the house."

"People think they hear voices in her old bedroom," says Mrs. Brown. "But we just hustle them along."

Knows of No Attraction

Brown thinks of nothing that would attract human prowlers. It is true that obituaries stated Mrs. Winchester's $20,000,000 fortune had shrunk to her death to $4,000,000, but Brown does not believe any of the vanished money is hidden on the estate. "She handled her money by checks," he says.

The income from what was left went to eight nephews and grandsons, the residuary estate to the New Haven Hospital association.

"Llanada Villa," as Mrs. Winchester called the place, was under construction continuously for 36 years.

Sought Eternal Life

Her husband, William Wirt Winchester, son of the founder of the Winchester Arms company, died in Hartford in 1886. According to local tradition, she was instructed by a Boston psychic immediately afterward to start building a spirit palace, and was told that as long as she kept building she would remain alive.

The resulting operations, which continued until she died in 1922 at the age of 85, are estimated by Brown to have cost her $3,000,000.

The structure's 100 rooms contain hundreds of doors, windows and cabinets, 47 fireplaces and 40 stairways. Come features are strange in the extreme. Stairs lead into a blank wall into a cupboard or a useless balcony. A hall has four fireplaces side by side. Three other fireplaces are built one above another on a single chimney. There are five kitchens, three elevators. One staircase has 44 steps and makes 10 turns to attain an elevation of 10 feet. Ornamental posts are installed upside down. Texas, Rice Open Conference Play

Razorbacks to Start Conference Play Against Baylor

HOUSTON, Texas.—(AP)—Veteran cage teams of Rice Institute and Texas A. & M. lift the curtain on the 1937 Southwest Conference race here Wednesday night.

It is the first of five games that will see each team in the circuit in action opening week.

Four lettermen, and a lanky junior college transfer, Dale Freiberger, will start for the Aggies against Coach Jimmie Kitts' dangerous Rice Owls. Center Willis Orr, one of the conference high scorers of last year, and Guard Harris Lodge, are bulwarks of the Owl club.

Coach Hub McQuillan will have Captain Ed Lee and Pete Dowling at guards, Freiberger at center, and Clyde Jones and Paul Evans, at forwards. The Aggies won five of seven early season games while Rice was impressive before calling off play to go through two weeks of examinations.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, holding four victories in five starts and ready to defend their title, open against Baylor's Bears at Fayetteville, Ark., Friday and Saturday nights. Elwin Gilliland and Don Lockard, who have scored 52 and 54 points, respectively, in the early season games, are the Porks' major scoring threats.

The University of Texas journeys to North Texas to complete the week's schedule, meeting the Texas Christian Horned Frogs at Fort Worth Friday night and Southern Methodist at Dallas, Saturday.

The Christians, hampered by the late finish of their football season, will have but five days of official practice before they meet the Razorbacks at the Longhorns. Captain Willie Walls, lowering recuperated, will not play until he has fully recovered from an attack of malaria fever.

Texas may get Jack Collins, its high scoring forward, into the series before it reaches Dallas and the Methodists. Football injuries have hampered the Porks forward. Southern Methodist, looking better each time out, will present heavy opposition in J. D. Norton, Bill Blanton, and Billy Dewell, rangy offensive stars.

knobs open on to blank walls.

Much Work Torn Out

The motif 13 is repeated again and again in the panning. "Neighbors who watched the work said several times as many rooms were built and destroyed as now survive. A masonry floor it took three years to lay was ripped up the day after completion.

"The spirits ordered it," they explained. A niece, Margaret Marriot, was the only person to share the singular builder's company. Mrs. Winchester hid even from most of her servants and often wore a veil. "Scarcely half a dozen persons have seen her in as many years," said a news story "appearing in 1908."

President Theodore Roosevelt, who tried to call on her, was not even admitted to the grounds.

Star at Anything

OKLAHOMA CITY.—(AP)—Oklahoma collegiate conference athletes, whatever their sport, are well acquainted with W. C. Barnard. The big athlete from Central Teachers college was an all-star selection in about everything he tried last year. He holds the conference high hurdles record, plays bang-up basketball, and has been twice chosen at end on the all-conference eleven.

The longest railway platform in England is to be found in Manchester. It is at the Victoria and Exchange station, 2194 feet in length.

Dean Struts His Stuff

It was just like Dizzy Dean to drum up a little noise during the intersectional high school football game between Turtle Creek, Pa., High and Florida Military Academy in St. Petersburg, Dean, given the job as honorary referee, but in on the drum major, and is shown here strutting his stuff along with two sponsors of the game, Jane Piper, left, of Tyrone, Pa., and Virginia Longshot, of Detroit.

Two Porkers Fight for Scoring Honors

Lockard Leading Gilliland 54 to 52 Through Five Games

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—A spirited fight for scoring leadership on the championship University of Arkansas basketball team has already started this season between Coach Glen Rose's stellar forwards, Sub-captain Elwin Gilliland, of Beebe, and Don Lockard, of Batesville.

Through five games to date, Lockard is leading Gilliland 54 to 52 in total points, but Gilliland has tossed in 23 field goals to 22 by Lockard. The Batesville boy is ahead on free shots 10 to 6.

Between them Gilliland and Lockard have scored 106 of the 174 points scored by Arkansas in her four wins and one loss this year.

Gilliland was an all-conference first team forward last year, and was runner-up on the Razorbacks in point scoring to the great Razorback center, Ike Poole. Gilliland made 208 points in 1936 games. Lockard as a sophomore was not high among the goal shooters of the team, but he turned in some sensational performances on occasions. It was his high scoring and last minute field goal against the University of Texas that gave Arkansas her seventh conference cage championship.

On two occasions this season Lockard has scored 17 points for the Razorbacks, once against the Southeast Oklahoma

Perry Remains as Hot Springs Coach

No Effort Will Be Made to Replace Him, Says Athletic Council

HOT SPRINGS.—As long as Mervin Perry wishes to remain coach of Hot Springs High School, no effort will be made to get another mentor, members of the Athletic Council of the school have said, thereby putting a quietus to rumors which have been current the past three weeks.

It had been reported that Bo Sherman of Monticello or some other well known coach would take over Perry's duties.

Perry said that he had not tendered his resignation and indicated he had no intention of doing so.

He gave the city a state championship three years ago, but the past season was full of woe for him.

Teachers and again in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans against the University of Tennessee. Fifteen points is Gilliland's high for the year, these being made in a game with Drake University.

Upon Gilliland and Lockard this year will to a great extent rest the burden of keeping the Arkansas Razorbacks in the Southwest conference championship race. Meanwhile, they're going to be doing battle with each other for scoring honors—the Razorbacks gain both ways!

3-Year Contract Signed by Jack

Will Manage Jersey City Club—First Year Salary $12,500

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Travis, mainstay of the New York Giants, Tuesday signed a three year contract to manage the Jersey City club in the National League.

President Horace Stoneham said Jack will receive the highest salary in the league and almost as much as received with the Giants last year. His 1936 contract called for $12,500. Stoneham conferred with Jackson and Bill Terry, Giants manager.

Jackson frankly admitted he was his major league playing days over but said he hoped to play one season at third base for Jersey City last year. "Jack" was handling a lame knee which has troubled him ever since his college days, and he is only 23.

Other facts revealed at the ceremony: 1. Jersey City officials have agreed to lease their new unfinished minor league stadium to the new club for 10 years with an option for an additional five years.

2. Horace Stoneham will be president of the new corporation, Brannick, secretary of the Giants, president, and Jack Cook of Brooklyn, secretary.

3. Stoneham will ask major league officials to waive Jackson's club majors immediately.

4. The Giants and Jersey City will train together at Gullport, Miss., where the Giants complete an early season camp.

5. The old Jersey City nickname, "Skeeters" will be dropped.

Good Advice for Boss and Bossed

Hard Work, Courtesy, Appreciation, Help in Business World

By JOAN DURHAM

There's a double secret for success in any job—hard work and tact. A nice appearance . . . liked by people you work with—even an effort at first . . . a pleasant attitude . . . all these factors play parts. But the most important is to do your job well and, at the same time, be considerate of others.

There are five "do's" for the ploy who is eager to make the most of his job. They are:

(1) Work hard. But try to do your job so that you will do it with reasonable routine. However, and ends begin to accumulate do them slide from day to day.

(2) Attend to your own part of the job. Don't subject others to opinion too frequently. Avoid the betrayal department or office secret.

(3) Study your superior and others with whom you work, and a little tact when you're dealing with them. Remember that you're a part of a whole and you're expected to see your section of the machinery run smoothly. The best way to do this is to "click" with your partners in crime.

(4) Refrain from interrupting. A nice routine of those about you don't allow them to confuse you with the dozens of silly issues.

(5) Keep yourself well groomed. A powder puff can make or break. Take plenty of time using it when dress in the morning—so no recriminations won't have to be during the day.

For the employer who's anxious to get the best results out of the work for him there are also five "do's":

(1) Insist on good work—do it or you get it done. Do it or you get it done.

(2) When you promise or do something, do it.

(3) Practice a little consideration for your employees. Put yourself in a while. It will pay you in the run.

(4) Exercise your sense of humor. A good laugh from you every now and then will do more to relieve tension than you know.

(5) Set a good example of politeness in your dealings with outsiders. Remember that your employees will follow suit when you're out of office.

Mascot Retains Power DENVER.—(AP)—In 1922, the high school eleven was undefeated city football champion. Schuyler, the 3-year-old son of the coach, V. Curtis, was its mascot. Squeezing Over Score in Orange Bowl

The power that enabled Duquesne University's Royal Raiders to beat vaunted Pittsburgh earlier in the season brought them victory in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., in the post season game against Mississippi State College, 13-12. Above they pound over their first touchdown, Boyd Brunbaugh crushing through from the six-inch line.

Stamp News

By I. S. Klein
THE two-cent Army-Navy stamps will appear first on Jan. 15, at Washington, D. C. These will be red and as large as the one-cent series. Andrew Jackson and Winfield Scott will be portrayed on the army stamp. Pictures of Stephen Decatur and Thomas MacDonough will appear on the navy stamp.
For first day covers, send self-addressed envelopes to the Postmaster, Washington, D. C., with money order covering total cost of postage. There can be not more than 10 covers for each series, in each package, and postage should include at least two stamps for each cover.

There has been such a demand on the Canadian Philatelic Agency at Ottawa for the King George Jubilee stamps picturing King George VI of Great Britain, as Duke of York, that no more than five stamps will be issued to each applicant.

After Aden may come the Isle of Man in plans for printing George VI stamps for the British possessions. Manxmen are trying to get such recognition from the government.

Venezuela will produce a new series of stamps, including seven values in five designs for regular postage, and 17 in four designs for airmail.

Growing of Pine for Paper, Rayon, to Exceed Cotton

Pine Tree Crop to Yield South $15 to $25 Per Acre Per Year

BIG NEW INDUSTRY Southern Pine Steadily Advancing Where Spruce Once Was Used

By WILLIAM BORING
AP Feature Service Writer
SPARTANBURG, S. C.—(P)—They're turning the "land of cotton" for a crop which agriculturalists say may some day displace the staple as "king" in Dixie.

It is pine—loblolly, slash, shortleaf and longleaf.

Lands denuded after years of one-crop cultivation today are being planted to millions of sturdy pine trees.

Threefold Use
The Soil Conservation service is principal sponsor of the program for the three-fold purpose of checking erosion, emphasizing the pine's importance in industry and agriculture, and enriching timber sources.

Georgia Forester Elmer E. Dyal believes the versatile pine is destined to be fashioned into the nation's clothes-bag.

"Evening dresses, fine underwear, hosiery and men's woolen suits—all these things," he says, "will be made from pine trees in the near future. Not to mention the transparent paper bags in which the garments are sold and the price tags which are attached to them."

Dyal says pulp from the southern pine makes the same quality of rayon derived from the Canadian spruce.

Proves Usability
Three years ago Dr. Charles Herty, director of the pulp and paper laboratory at Savannah, Ga., sent supply of pulp to the Georgia Tech experimental laboratory. There it was converted into fine cloth.

Dr. Herty also discovered the idea that southern pine was useless for sulfite paper making because of high resin content. Herty's research showed that the young pine contains no resin, thus opening the way for the manufacture of paper from southern forests.

Today more than $20,000,000 has been proposed for the erection of additional paper mills that use pine trees as a basic product.

New Profit Seen
Dr. Herty also discovered a method for the extraction of fat from pines. This opened a new vista of profit for the pine farmer—trees for the finest grades of bond and book paper.

Experiments have shown that an acre of southern land will grow from four to 12 cords of slash pine a year.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Again!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels and blows up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, weak and the world is your enemy.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes this good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up".

Ham-fist, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

A-Drift in an Ocean of Snow.

Those who like winter—and more of it—can bank on a big time here. It's a typical scene in Badger Pass, Yosemite national park, in middle eastern California. The shelter buried in snow is the ski house for those who insist on climbing out of warm valleys to follow their favorite sport. One of California's beauty spots, this is no place for a person who hates a little snow over the rooftops.

Slash is the fastest growing variety in the pine family.

Foresters say, paper and cloth industries based on southern pine forests would be self-perpetuating since young forests are used and may be replanted to serve in a 10-year cycle.

Farmers Planting Them
Farmers themselves already have turned to planting pine trees as a crop.

C. M. Jordan, south Georgia planter, says he has planted 175,000 slash pines on 600 acres.

"Added to the agricultural crops," declares Jordan, "I think the growing of pine insures the southern farmer the brightest future ever."

Nurseries operated by states and the federal government are turning out millions of seedlings a year.

Georgia operates two nurseries and, officials say, despite distribution of 5,000,000 seedlings this year, orders of many farmers necessarily had to go unfilled.

Forester Dyal places the income the farmer may expect from a pine tree crop "conservatively at from $15 to $25 an acre for pulp wood alone."

With the soil conservation service, planting crops of pines in the south is big business.

This winter the service, aided by the CCC corps, will plant 50,000,000 trees, the majority pines, throughout the southeast; 175,000,000 over the nation.

War Materials Also From Farm

True Embargo Would Hit Farm as Well as Airplane Factory

By the Associated Press
WASHINGTON.—The state department is suffering no end of diplomatic anguish over having to grant a permit to Robert Cuse, Jersey City airplane exporter, to ship nearly $3,000,000 worth of planes to Spanish Loyalists.

The incident speled not only current worry over how to avoid upsetting the troublesome Spanish apple cart, but future worry over the influence of the "mighty dollar" on American efforts to stay out of foreign conflicts.

Until the Cuse affair, the state department was able to stave off shipments to the Spanish belligerents by appeals to loyalty and by suggestions that the senate munitions investigation already had put much of the munitions industry in a bad repute. (The neutrality act does not cover civil wars.)

Foodstuffs Big Factor
When such appeals and suggestions failed to work in the case of Cuse's planes, some observant officials began to speculate as to what would be the reaction if potatoes and corn should be involved instead of planes and engines.

If a real war broke out, the demand for agricultural products and food supplies in general would become almost as urgent as the cry for bombs and bullets. Would the loyalty of farmers, burdened perhaps with a surplus of wheat be equal to foregoing profitable sales to warring nations?

So far no senate investigators have sought to smear the reputations of farmers for selling food to the allies before American entry into the World war. The "smearing" has been directed instead against the munitions makers.

As a result loyalty was not the only appeal that could be made to the munitions makers. Privately they were led to understand that if they sought to override neutrality efforts by shipping arms to Spain there was no telling what drastic restrictions an angry congress might impose upon the munitions industry.

Congress Can Hold Temper
But even congressional anger finds restraints. When the neutrality bill was re-enacted last session there was talk of embargoing not only munitions and arms, but "war materials." That included such items as copper and oil.

Up rose opposition from copper and oil states. No embargo was imposed on "war materials." Thus oil shipments from the United States to Italy continued right along although league members hinted there was not much use in trying to impose sanctions with U. S. supplies unchecked.

There is ample talk of broadening the President's powers under the neutrality act so he can meet a situation such as the Spanish civil war, and perhaps impose restrictions on "war materials." But likewise there is opposition to getting too hotly-tooty about trading with belligerents where it means real money.
